Read Carefully

and observe the following important instructions to those about to plant

Roses

Care when Received.

In case the plants reach destination before the frost is entirely out of the ground, or before the soil is in proper condition for planting, the plants can be placed in a cool cellar and the roots covered with earth, or they can be placed in a trench in the open ground and the tops covered with straw, branches, or litter until ready to plant.

Directions for Planting and Pruning.

Dormant plants of the hardy varieties of Roses, set out in the spring, should be planted early, for no plant suffers more from being set out late than the Rose. Budded plants should be planted sufficiently deep so that the junction of the bud with the stock is from two to three inches below the surface of the earth, as shown by the line drawn across the plant in Figure 2. Before or immediately after planting every plant should be cut back to two or three buds or eyes, and the roots slightly pruned as shown in the illustration. Figure 1 shows a budded plant unpruned. Figure 2 shows the same plant properly pruned, stem and roots. Not only are the shoots cut back, but superfluous shoots and growth are removed, as will be seen by careful examination of the illustration. Many persons set their plants just as they come from the nursery; the important operation of pruning is frequently neglected, and the plants in consequence utterly fail to grow. The plants should also be pruned annually, about April 1.

Tea Roses and other tender Roses, that are pot-grown, should not be planted until all danger of spring frosts is over.

“How much of memory dwells within thy bloom,
Rose! ever wearing beauty for thy dower!
The bridal day — the festival — the tomb —
Thou hast thy part in each, thou stateliest flower;
Therefore with thy soft breath come floating by
A thousand images of love and grief —
Dreams filled with tokens of mortality;
Deep thoughts of all things beautiful and brief.
Not such thy spells o’er those that hailed thee first,
In the clear light of Eden’s golden day!
There thy rich leaves to crimson glory burst,
Link’d with no dim remembrance of decay.
Rose! for the banquet gathered, and the bier!
Rose! colored now by human hope or pain;
Surely when death is not, nor change nor fear,
Yet may we meet thee, joy’s own flower, again.”

New Roses

for 1897.

As usual, a large number of new Roses are being offered this season. We have not had an opportunity to test them, but we can furnish plants, and offer them with the raisers' descriptions. Good plants of all will be ready in April.

Alex. Dickson & Sons' New Pedigree Seedling Roses :

The Roses sent out by this firm have, as a rule, been distinct, and show marked improvement on existing varieties. This year we again have the pleasure of offering their latest productions, as follows :

Ellen Drew (Hybrid Perpetual). A sport from Duchesse de Morny, color light silver pink with peach shading, very distinct. In size, substance, and habit of growth it is similar to the parent variety. $1.00.

Tom Wood (Hybrid Perpetual). A variety of great merit, either for garden decoration or exhibition purposes. The color is cherry red, petals large, shell-shaped and of immense substance, flowers very large, full and perfectly formed ; growth vigorous and of free branching habit, flowering freely and continuously from early summer until late in the autumn ; the foliage is most distinct and almost mildew-proof. $1.00.

New Roses of the Year by Other Raisers are :

Bladud (Hybrid Perpetual). Flowers large, very full and globular ; outside petals silvery white, center pale blush pink. $1.00.

Cooling's Single Crimson Bedder. A charming addition to the single and garden Roses; quite distinct, semi-dwarf habit; color glowing crimson; flowers very large and produced in clusters. $1.00.

Calocarpa (Hybrid Rugosa). Rose-color, single, very sweet; brilliant foliage in autumn. $1.00.

Haileybury (Hybrid Perpetual). Round in form; color cerise-salmon; very vigorous and perpetual. $1.00.

Laurence Allen (Hybrid Perpetual). Flowers large, full with high center; color clear soft pink, with lighter shading; growth strong and erect; early and free flowering. $1.00.

Mosella (Polyantha). This is a beautiful Polyantha with well-formed very double camellia-like flowers, borne in clusters of two to five; the petals are white at the outside, with a yellow ground, and the center is a yellowish-rose color. Very promising. 50c.

Paul's Carmine Pillar. Flowers very large, single, bright rosy-carmine, and produced abundantly. Grows 10 to 12 feet in a season. $1.00.

Mrs. Arthur Wilson (Hybrid Perpetual). Color bright silvery pink, shaded rose. $1.00.

Souvenir de Madame Eugene Verdier (Hybrid Perpetual). Growth very vigorous; flowers very large and full; color, bright rose. $1.00.

Schneelicht (Hybrid Rugosa). A climbing variety with snow-white flowers, perfectly formed. $1.00.

Souvenir du President Carnot (Hybrid Tea). The new Rose which is so much talked of and advertised at present. Flowers very large and full, bud long in the way of Niphetos; color rosy flesh, shaded white at the edges of the petals, form perfect. Growth vigorous; very free flowering. Awarded in 1896 two silver medals, diploma of the American Institute, five certificates of merit, and first-class certificate. $1.00.

New Ramblers ❀

Yellow, [Pink, White.

The introduction of Crimson Rambler and the unprecedented sale which it had, seems to have had the effect of bringing to light other varieties of the same class, but different in color. The following are the latest :

Yellow Rambler (Aglaiia). Of vigorous climbing habit with beautiful light green foliage; the flowers are borne in large pyramidal trusses, similar to Crimson Rambler, with 50 to 150 individual blooms; the color is bright yellow: the flowers are full, of beautiful shell-shaped form, with a strong tea perfume. $1.00.

Pink Rambler (Euphrosine). In vigorous growth and profusion of bloom this equals Aglaiia; the color is bright red, the half-open buds being brilliant carmine; when fully open the numerous yellow anthers give the flowers a charming effect. $1.00.

White Rambler (Thalia). In growth, etc., this is similar to the two preceding, only the color is pure white, and the umbels much larger. $1.00.

Letters from Customers.

BOSTON, MASS., May 2, 1896.

"I happened to be in Princeton when the box containing trees, shrubs, etc., consigned by you to my gardener, was opened; and I am very glad to report to you that I have never received stock from any nursery in such good condition. I enclose check on New York to cover the invoice, viz.: $187.24, and when I am in need of another lot, I shall know where to order it."

ELMHURST, ILLS., April 29, 1896.

"You may remember filling an order for me last spring of nearly $200.00 worth of trees and shrubs. Last summer was an exceptionally trying one, on account of extreme drought, yet in spite of this disadvantage, the trees and shrubs you sent me have all done so well, so few having died, that I wish to write and thank you for the good plants you sent me, and for the care with which you packed and shipped them."

Rosa Multiflora Japonica *

A charming species of climbing habit introduced from Japan more than a century ago, but only recently brought to notice. It is exceedingly free blooming and towards the end of June the plant is covered with great clusters of small white, sweetly fragrant flowers, in which the golden-colored anthers make a charming contrast with the snowy-white petals.

It is extremely hardy and grows rapidly. Mr. Thomas N. Cook, of Cambridge, Mass., from whose plant the accompanying illustration was made, gives the following description of his plant in Gardening, issue of January 1, 1897:

"Rosa Multiflora Japonica is a stout bush, arching above the middle. The stems are bright green and round, armed with strong and sharp spines. It flowers in great racemes of 20 to 50 flowers, each as large as a silver quarter, pure brilliant white with bright golden stamens and a powerful rose perfume that spreads for blocks around and brings all the honey-gathering insects for miles. One hour after the picture was taken an enormous swarm of bees settled on the fence, and they must have come from at least four miles, as there were none kept nearer, our part of Cambridge being thickly settled. The flowers last ten days. The hips are bright red and persist all winter and are handsome."

Price $1.00 each.

Letters from Customers.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 26, 1896.

"If I want anything particularly exquisite, and distinguished from the multitude of common plants, I always think of your house, and rely on your taste."

MEDFORD, N. J., April 15, 1896.

"The box of Roses started on the 10th reached here on the morning of the 13th and looked totally unconscious of having left their native soil, and were, as your plants always are, large and vigorous, ready, when the blooming season comes, to give us their wealth of superb flowers. I do not get such fine ones anywhere else, and I have bought of many firms."

New Strawberry

“McKinley”

Introduced by us Summer of 1896.

The number of new strawberries annually introduced is so great that we almost hesitate to add to the list, but this new variety has so many desirable qualities that we believe it deserves recognition and dissemination.

It has been thoroughly tested on our grounds the last two years, and of the many kinds, new and old, we have growing, it seems superior to all, being conspicuous for its size, shape, color, and quality.

In size it is large ; shape roundish, inclined to conical, but sometimes flattened or coxcombed ; color crimson ; flesh moderately firm and quality very good. The plant is vigorous, healthy, and a great yielder ; flowers bisexual or perfect. We can confidently recommend it for garden or market culture.

$1.00 per dozen, $3.00 per hundred.
